Information from Hyogo Business & Cultural Center (HBCC)

Washington state is the second-largest wine producer in the United States after California. At about the same latitude as the Bordeaux region of France, its long daylight hours, the temperature difference between day and night, and dry climate help produce popular high-quality and cost-effective wines.

A telephone interview (about 14 minutes) with Gramercy Cellars of Walla Walla, Washington is posted on the HBCC Youtube channel.

If you are interested in wine or want to practice your English listening skills, please have a listen to the interview of an American winery owner at the link below.
